

Post 77 stops playing to avoid bingo lawsuit

BY DENA BISNETTE
American Legion Post 77 in Waveland has discontinued all of its bingo games.
Post Commander Lawrence Freeman stated that the post received a letter last week from State Attorney General Mike Moore through its department adjutant in Jackson. The letter named four posts still conducting bingo games, including posts in Meridian, Gulfport and Biloxi in addition to Post 77.
"We were told in that letter that if we did not submit letter by 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26, stating that we had stopped, we would be included in a lawsuit already filed," Freeman said.

"We immediately faxed a letter stating we had stopped all of our games and would conduct no more until bingo was declared legal by the proper authorities," he added.
The last game Sunday drew an exceptionally large crowd.
"We had a really good turnout," Freeman explained. "We wish we could have a crowd like that every bingo night."
"The people are very upset—extremely upset," he added when he was asked about the crowd's reaction to the end of bingo.

Legion and auxiliary members are particularly concerned about the many elderly people who had become regulars at the games, and what they will do now for recreation.
"They don't do anything else but watch TV and play bingo here," Freeman stated.

"It puts us out of business; that's what it does," the commander added.
He explained that the post's only other income is from dues, but the post keeps less than $2 per individual and sends the rest to the national organization.

Freeman said that is not enough to continue Post 77's programs.
Finance Officer Jay Marsh said that the post has about $500 members and the amount that generates is not even enough to pay for utilities, with about $250 per month going to the City of Waveland for water and gas and the electricity bill peaking between $1,600 and $1,900 per month in the summer.

The post's executive committee met Wednesday night to discuss the problems lack of funds derived from bingo would cause. The results of that discussion

Freeman said it is also likely that the Legion and its auxiliary will have to terminate contributions to other charities, several of which usually request assistance each month.

Traditional Legion programs such as Boys' State and an annual oratorical contest for students will have to be cancelled.

The commander said a volunteer or even an answering machine will have to be found in "Unless things return to normal, we will probably have to do away with our Thanksgiving and Christmas programs for the veterans"—Freeman.

were not available by The Sea Coast Echo's press deadline.

Freeman said Wednesday before the meeting that he is certain most of the programs Post 77 and its auxiliary unit operates right now will have to be discontinued.

The post has been contributing $8,000 to Pearl River Community College each year for scholarships and has participated in such programs as Little League baseball, youth soccer and scouting.

order to avoid the expense of having someone in the post's office during regular business hours.

"And, unless things return to normal, we will probably have to do away with our Thanksgiving and Christmas programs for the veterans," he added. "Of course, that's looking a long way ahead and we hope things will be resolved favorably for us by then."

One activity Post 77 will probably be able to continue is Red Cross blood drawings, although refreshments and a dinner usually given for Red Cross workers and volunteers after each drawing may have to be discontinued.

Workers' plight topic of tri-county meeting

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
A tri-county strategy meeting of political and economic leaders is scheduled for 10 a.m. this morning at the Mississippi Power Company's auditorium in Bay St. Louis.

The special meeting called by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors is to discuss ways to overcome the economic loss of the closing of the Army Ammunition Plant.

Invitations have been sent to Harrison and Pearl River County supervisors.

The economic groups invited include: Hancock County Port and Harbor Commissioners, Harrison County Development Commission and Pearl River County Development Association members.

The Ammo Plant was reportedly scheduled to remain open through 1990, but some of the plant employees have received a letter notifying them of an April 27, 1990 elimination.

Ronald Cuevas, Hancock Supervisors' president, in his invitation letter stated "This meeting will be a formulation of ideas to deal with the impact of the closing and assist those who will lose their jobs in the next couple of months..."

Several State and Federal assistance agencies representatives are also expected at the meeting.

Harold (Buz) Olsen, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission executive director, said "Officials are trying to bring together everyone who can help plan for the future of those now working at the Ammo Plant."

Randy Castello, Hancock Chamber president stated Wednesday, "The Hancock Supervisors have collected the appropriate group to address the human aspect of the plant's closure."

"This is the group that should be able to help the employees find new jobs if necessary and most important, assist them during the interim between jobs," Castello added.

Among the agencies and representatives expected at today's meeting include:

- Jane Black, director of the Economic Dislocated Worker Assistance Program (EDWAA).
- Rapid Response.
- Welfare Department.
- Job Training Partnership Act.

- Bob Mims, Mississippi Employment Service, Jackson, Ms.

- Chuck Weltschey, chairman, State Job Training Coordinating Council.

- Local FDA Service Delivery Area for the JTPA Program.
- Andy Cutleil representing the Gulf Coast Business Corporation.

- Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

County taking action to stop illegal dump

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is attempting to handle a problem with tires being dumped onto lots on Coral Street and Avenue B behind Water Tower Plaza.

Board Attorney Gerald Gex stated that he has been trying to notify the owners of the properties on which the dumping has occurred under the guidelines of Section 19-5-105 of the Mississippi Code.

That section requires that owners of property which is the subject of complaints to the county be notified by registered letter and be given a specific amount of time to clean up the property before the county can take action against them.

After the board heard complaints Wednesday morning from an individual representing several residents of the area, Gex explained that if all efforts to get the owners to clean up the problem through proper channels produce no result, the county can declare the property a health hazard, then can clean it up with county personnel and equipment.

Polls to open until 6 p.m. for school board election

BY DENA BISNETTE
The polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday at Waveland Elementary School for the election of a board member from the outside territory of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District.

The outside territory consists of those parts of the school district lying outside the city limits of Bay St. Louis.

Four candidates are vying for the post, currently held by incumbent Danny Carter of Waveland. The three newcomer candidates are Frank Baktis, Ruth Thompson and James D. Wilcox.

Carter is a city of Waveland police officer and immediate past commander of American Legion Post 77 in Waveland.

"I'd like to thank the people of the district for allowing me to serve in the capacity I have and, if I have the opportunity to continue, my main objective will be educate children. I want to assure that they are given a good core education," Carter said.

He said he wants to see some sort of alternative program for children who would normally drop out of school and provide them with that same good education, but he would like to see the program done on an in-house basis so that it will not create an extra tax burden on the public.

Taylor seeks ways to keep plant operating

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor indicated late Wednesday he and his staff and several volunteers have been busy trying to solve the economic impact of the possible closing of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant.

Some of the plant's 1700 workers have already received letters with an April 27, 1990 termination.

"Funds for the fiscal year which began in October were approved by the last Congress but were not authorized," Taylor said.

Taylor reported he would like to see the facility located at the Stennis Space Center operate at least until the end of the fiscal year.

"It is safe to say the Department of Defense is an increasingly unreliable customer. I would hate to see the $600 million facility just sit there idle," Taylor stated.

Taylor continued, "If they are going to close the plant, I would like to see them give the keys to the State of Mississippi or the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission to develop as a high tech industrial park."

Taylor mentioned how the 14 acre facility located under one roof at the test facility could offer so many support services at their doorstep.

Taylor mentioned the newly formed "Privatization Task Force" he has assembled of approximately 20 Coast businessmen who started their careers in the public sector and are now in private industry.

The group has met with state senators and representatives who have researched old state laws and find nothing to prevent the plant being turned over to the private sector.

On Tuesday, Taylor met with Army General Paul Greenburg and "let him know our interest," in case the Army closes the facility.

Diamondhead board names
Montjoy as general manager

BY DENA BISNETTE

Paul Montjoy has been named Diamondhead Property Owners Association's new general manager.

He was selected by the board of directors of Diamondhead Country Club and Property Owners Association, Inc.

Montjoy, a resident of Diamondhead who has lived on the coast since 1970, has a B.S. Degree in engineering from University of Mississippi and is a former project manager for the original Diamondhead Project.

Prior to accepting the job as general manager, he served as president of Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal Inc., for 10 years before selling the company in 1988. He continues to serve as president of Gulf Coast Service Associates Inc., which he has owned since 1978.

As Diamondhead project manager, he worked on construction programs for Diamondhead's utility systems, roads, airport and recreational facilities; helped for the property owners' advisory committee to the official architectural committee and assisted in establishment of an enforcement program; served as editor of the Diamondhead newspaper; and helped coordinate some of the first Mardi Gras events at Diamondhead.

He was also assistant director of the Governor's Energy Council from 1970 to 1972.

PAUL MONTJOY

Montjoy's civic activities include membership in St. Thomas Episcopal Church, where he is a former senior warden and vestryman; Diamondhead Men's Golf Association; Diamondhead Tennis Association; Diamondhead Rotary Club; Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, of which he is a past board member; Mississippi Economic Council, of which he is a past board member; Coast Episcopal Schools, where he spent nine years on the board and is a past vice chairman; and Bay Area Youth Soccer, which he helped organize and served for two years as president.

He has three children, Paul Montjoy IV, age 19; Rea Montjoy, 18; and Linn Montjoy, 16.

New Bay plan will put traffic violators to work

Traffic violators and other offenders will be required to do community service for their offenses, according to Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre.

The new policy will be in effect March 3.

Community service workers will be assigned trash collection duties for roadsides and other city properties. The workers will wear orange vests and be supervised by a member of the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

"The City roadsides need to be cleaned; this is work that someone required to perform community service can do. The plan will work, but the administration needs the cooperation of the public," stated Mayor Favre.

"Please do not ask any of the workers to come on personal property to perform services. While we would like to offer their assistance, state law will not permit this assistance," he said.

The trash and debris will be collected and removed on every Saturday from 7 a.m. - 12 p.m. as workers are available.

Taylor

Taylor said, "We are taking the attitude that it is a terrible thing not to turn the plant over to the private sector, so it can be a tax-paying entity instead of relying on tax dollars to operate, if they choose to close it."

Taylor, along with Governor Mabus, also met this week with Speaker of the House Tom Foley. He said he has met with several appropriation heads.

Taylor reported he is concerned with the human beings involved in such matters as in extensions of hospitalization benefits.

In addition, he has met with members of the Veterans Mortgage Divisions to see if they could possibly work out extensions of home loan payments to employees if the facility closes.

The congressman is also looking at a piece of legislation that addresses all of the problems a community suffers when a military base or facility closes.

Taylor reported the cost of constructing the Ammo plant could run the City of Bay St. Louis for a century.

"We are now waiting for the Army to come back with their response. We are dealing with Washington, and it moves slowly, but we are not going to give up until we prevail," Taylor commented.

According to Freeman, several groups, including Red Cross, American Association of Retired People and Senior Citizens of Waveland use the post home. One item on the agenda for discussion was whether Post 77 will now have to charge for use of those facilities, which have even served as a commodities distribution point for the Hancock County Welfare Department.

Acting on behalf of the post, Freeman tried to find out why Waveland specifically was notified to shut down its bingo.

"I called the attorney general's office and was told that the reason Waveland was named was because we'd been reported as having bingo still operating," he said.

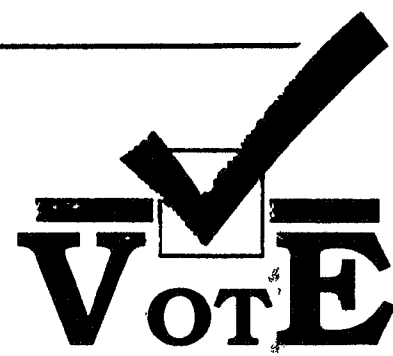

"The lady up there asked me if I would like to name other posts that were still operating and I told her I couldn't give her that information. I asked her if she could tell me who reported us and she told me her office couldn't give out that information."

"She told me that when someone reported us, she actually called our post and asked us what time we played our games."

"I can't understand why we're being singled out and why others are being allowed to go on. It's beyond me as to why our representatives in Jackson would legalize gambling in the Mississippi Sound or on the Mississippi River, any type of gambling, and not let us play bingo in veterans' organizations."

He said he knows that the local legislators, State Representative J.P. Compretta and State Senator Victor Franc-kiewicz Jr., have both supported bingo and said he hopes the issue can be brought up again and resolved in a manner favorable to veterans' organizations and other non-profit groups.

not to be identified, presenting the complaint said he is concerned because the tires serve as breeding grounds for mosquitoes, rats, snakes and other vermin.

He was also worried that the presence of the tires has begun to encourage other illegal dumping. He said people see the tires and are beginning to throw their garbage out on the lots.

"Not only am I tired of picking up everyone else's trash, they're going down that road doing 80 miles an hour," he told the board, citing general deterioration of the neighborhood as the dumping of the tires continues.

Another problem which is occurring is the clogging of the ditches along the illegal dump when the tires and trash overflow into them.

County Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas said his crews have had to clean out the ditches more than once because drainage problems occurred.

While the legal procedures regarding notification are in progress, the county will set up "No Dumping" signs in an effort to keep the tire problem from growing, Cuevas said.

Olsen said, "The South Mississippi Planning and Development District was the agency that EDA passes funding through if any are available."

The funding falls under Title 9, Sudden and Severe Economic Dislocation. Olsen reported as to where the monies would come from to help displaced workers with the closure of the Ammo Plant.

Olsen felt positive about several job possibilities opening within the area in the near future.

He mentioned the new contract at Avondale Shipyard which will mean 300 jobs, DuPont's construction to include 300 positions, the Jackson County Naval Station Home-

"I believe we will be able to help place most of those people possibly within a 60-mile radius by working together with all agencies and governmental bodies," Olsen stated.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

After the fast food, come the fasting, with the movement of Mardi Gras. In the days of Lent, when regulations are strict, many of us still keep Lent in the old ways to some degree, but that's really no penance to the fish in the Gulf Coast area. It's a way of life and a delicious one at that!

Seafood is a staple of the French, and the French Shrimp Creole is a stew of eggplant, stuffed with shrimp or shrimp or baked and fried or baked fish and is so good, how tasty!

A favorite of the French has been "Frite Meuniere," trout meuniere, as served at Arnaud's Restaurant in New Orleans' French Quarter, trout with parsley butter, accompanied by potatoes, but served outside, making it a favorite. This dish is quite easy to make with catfish fillets instead of trout, in fact, many times that the flesh of the catfish is sweeter and more delicate.

And, in the days before and after the Depression, many a catfish masquerade as trout on many a dinner table! With tasty results! Here's:

CATFISH MEUNIERE

(Meuniere means simple "in the manner of the miller's wife" as the fish is dusted with flour.)

1 1/2 to 3 lbs of catfish fillets
6 Tbsp. butter or margarine
Milk, flour, butter as needed
Lemon juice
Minced parsley

Dip the fillets in milk, then in flour to dust lightly. Heat the butter of margarine in a heavy skillet or sauteuse (saute pan) - barely enough butter to film the bottom of the pan. Cook fish briefly until brown and crispy on the underside.

Using a spatula, lest you break up the fish, turn and brown on the other side. As soon as the fish flakes easily to the touch of a fork or when a knife tip is applied lightly to the side, remove to a warm serving platter, and sprinkle with lemon juice and minced parsley.

At this point, you may wish to drain the butter from the pan, replacing it with the six tablespoons of fresh butter.

However, I prefer to swish a splash or two of white wine around in the skillet to pick up those luscious bits from the bottom of the pan, and the fresh butter, which is barely brown. Then pour over the fish, and serve.

At times I like to add almonds to the pan, or "Amandine" or "Pecan" or whatever. "Veronique" - whatever.

As for the potatoes, chunks of boiled potatoes, browned until crispy, are delicious! (From to six to eight.)

"A high-rated school will attract people to the Gulf Coast instead of seeing them go to another area."

Frank E. Bakis, involved in school board parent in Louisiana, said Louis Waveland, who has been a PTO president at North Bay and Bay High. He is a general specialist with the Oceanographic Office at C. Stennis Space Center.

"I feel that education is key to economic growth in the Bay-Waveland area and Hancock County. Without a quality education, our area can not compete in the market and the area will not attract industry," Bakis stated.

"The school system will offer a full range of programs to meet the needs of every student."

He also advocates a school program and school classes so that students will not have to go out of Bay St. Louis-Waveland District.

Queen's cup lost at Nereids parade

BY DENA BISNETTE

A past queen of Nereids is searching for her silver cup.

The cup was being used on the Waveland review stand during Tuesday's Krewe of Nereids Parade by Barbara Rappold, Queen Doris XI of 1977.

Rappold serves as a narrator for the parade and was toasting king and queen with the cup when she saw it last.

She said it may have rolled off the stand when she set it down.

"I'm afraid it might have fallen and been mistaken for a throw," she stated.

"That cup has a great deal of sentimental value. I've had it for 13 years," she said.

The cup is silver and is engraved "Queen Doris XI, 1977" and was a gift from the krewe.

Anyone who finds the cup may call Rappold at 467-3585 after 4 p.m. During the day, call Waveland City Hall at 467-4134.

As a candidate for Trustee, I am asking for your support in the March 3rd election. I believe our schools can achieve an A+ rating. My planning and proposals are based on research and experience.

A+ All students can achieve. We can ensure their success through high standards and challenging curriculum. Our main responsibility is to give them the opportunity to achieve success.

A+ Accountability is necessary. Our business is to make certain our children receive the best education.

A+ Active involvement of parents, business, and community is essential. We all gain when our children learn.

A+ Affordable quality education is what we are paying for. We must show better results for this money.

A+ Accessibility to the public is a serious concern. I will be available at my business almost any time day or night. The number is 467-8201.

The knowledge and experience I've gained as an officer in various organizations, as owner of Ruth's Bakery and as a public school parent qualify me to be an effective school board member. My own commitment to education ensures that I will work toward the best education possible for our children.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Theatre goers are in for a real treat on Thursday, Friday or Saturday when the Waveland Players present "To Gillian on Her 37th Birthday."

Waveland resident Nan Ehrbright has done a superb job as director and has gathered a fine group of local talent.

During the past several months, Nan and the cast have been working very hard with rehearsals. Previews indicate everyone is ready and looking forward to opening night.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. and tickets are $5 each at the door at the Waveland Civic Center, Coleman Avenue.

Talents are many in our area and "Gillian" is a play which proves this.

Parades, parades and more parades are all over and for only a few weeks.

In more than two weeks, the annual St. Patrick's Day parade sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association is scheduled.

This parade will wind through the streets of the interior of Waveland and is a fun time for many.

When I think about the many parades we have in the area, I feel for the folks who have the task of clean up.

Tons and tons of litter has to be collected and most of it has to be picked up by hand.

We could all lend a hand a little, if we could collect our cups, cans and bags and dispose of them properly after a parade.

I know it is too late to remind folks about taking home their Mardi Gras litter, but there still is the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

I would like to wish Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Darrows of Bay St. Louis, a belated Happy Anniversary.

The Darrows celebrated the festive occasion on Mardi Gras Day.

They are next-to-the-longest married couple I have known. The other couple was Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Bay St. Louis.

Today, not too many folks live to be 64 years—much less stay married that long.

I wish Mr. and Mrs. Darrow many more years of wedded bliss.

Saturday is election day for a seat on the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board.

This is a very important position for the qualified electors who are in the school district, but reside outside of Bay St. Louis.

The Bay-Waveland School Board consists of five members. Three are appointed by Bay St. Louis and two are elected from the outside area, which includes all of Waveland.

Only one position is being voted on, yet it is important for electors to select the person they feel is the best qualified to represent them.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and will be at Waveland Elementary School, St. Joseph Street, Waveland.

Ammo Plant created false hope for many

The Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County has been a false hope for Hancock Countians from its beginning.

When the announcement of the plant's construction was made by former U.S. Senator John Stennis, many local craftsmen in the construction field thought this would be a job opportunity. The majority of construction jobs went to others.

Next, the civilian operator of the military plant set up in a neighboring county. When permanent employment began, the number of Hancock residents hired was small compared to other areas.

Congressional delegations were flooded with complaints from political leaders and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce in regard to the scant employment of locals.

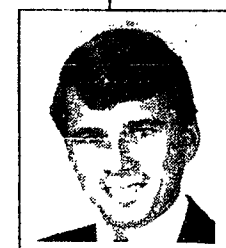

Those who were hired thought their troubles for good employment were over. Some of those fortunates have scaled the ladder to good paying positions, and now the job continuation looks bleak.

When this newspaper broke the story about the plant's closing—a spokesman for the contractor said we were irresponsible in our reporting.

Yet, it was revealed from Congressional Records that the facility was to be closed when a certain number of shells were stockpiled.

The Ammo Plant was then reported to have funding through 1990, yet some of the facility's employees have received letters notifying them of an April 27 termination.

If the plant is mothballed, it will be interesting to see how many of the approximately 100 employees retained will be Hancock residents.

Plans would restore wetlands, revitalize seafood industry

Restoration and protection of valuable waterways and fisheries interests should be high on South Mississippi's checklist.

South Mississippi needs to rebuild its wetlands and enhance its oyster and shrimp industry. The ecology and economy depend on it.

Last week, I met with representatives from the Corps of Engineers about two projects that would stem the tide of coastal erosion and salt water intrusion and increase the oyster and shrimp population in the Gulf of Mexico.

The first is a program that will actually build wetlands with dredged spoils. As you know, wetlands serve as filters that purify our streams and waterways. The marshes are also a nursery ground for many kinds of fish.

One of the largest costs and problems with wetlands is dredging channels.

When channels are dredged, the sand or spoil usually is dumped out into the sea or piled into spoil banks that fill marshlands or prevent the flow of water.

My idea is to take the dredged material, recycle it and deposit it near existing channels or areas of erosion.

The deposits, strengthened with riprap, build a wetland type habitat that is good for fish. Plus, building wetlands is actually cheaper than other forms of soil disposal.

Another project that will enhance our seafood industry is the $76 million Freshwater Diversion Project.

This joint federal, Mississippi-Louisiana state venture would divert fresh water from the Bonne Carre Spillway through Lake Pontchartrain and Lake Borne to the Mississippi Sound.

Ultimately, the freshwater diversion could increase the oyster population in the Sound in the Corps' estimate by two million pounds a year and bring $11 million extra a year to the Seafood Industry.

Senate bill aims to curtail state's flurry of elections

For those Mississippians who are suffering from election fatigue, some relief may be on the way.

State Sen. Roger Wicker of Tupelo has managed to steer through the Senate his proposed constitutional amendment aimed at moving all state, district, and county elections to even-numbered, non-presidential years beginning in 1998.

That would do away with the century-old quadrennial tradition in Mississippi of electing officials from governor to constable in odd-numbered years, something which only five states now do.

Wicker's proposal would be phased in beginning in 1995 when all state, district and county officials would be elected for a three-year term, a small inconvenience that would be necessary to get the four-year cycle in place in 1998.

As it is now, there are either state, federal or municipal elections going on in Mississippi every year in a four year period. At least this would give us one year out of the four that there were no scheduled elections.

BACK TO NATURE

White headed Pine Siskin makes his rounds in Bay

But the next two months and one white-headed bird

Pine Siskin

The phone rang. It was late January, 1987. The familiar voice on the other end said, "Lydia! I have the strangest bird in my yard!" (Now, I hear that all the time and it turns out to be a common bird seen for the first time by someone who doesn't "bird.")

So, I nonchalantly asked Gayle Egan, who lives in Pearlinton, to describe her "strange invader." The time of year dictated that I be on guard for rarities.

Her bird looked the size and shape of an American Goldfinch or a Pine Siskin but -- HAD A WHITE HEAD!!

I knew immediately that this was a mutant. Things like that happen in all species. She said the bird seemed fine. It was joining all the other Siskins and Goldfinches. So, that was the end of it... or so I foolishly thought.

Now, let's backtrack. I'd always wondered why the number of Goldfinches and Siskins fluctuated so dramatically from one day to the next.

One day I'd have 100 little beggars and the next maybe just 30. Two days later I'd be back up to 100 or more. Some days there would be so many birds they would sound like rain falling on a sunny day when they'd hop on top of the leaf-covered ground.

who was at MY feeder. I just grinned. The little bird was flitting around at a feeder and I was able to see the yellow streaks in its wings. GOTCHA! Identified. It was a Pine Siskin.

Over the duration of the Pine Siskin invasion of that year, I had a number of calls from around the area. One caller was even my mother.

But the one that startled me the most was just before all Siskins migrated. Gayle called and said, "You're not gonna believe this, but guess who's at my feeder?" Yes! One white-headed Pine Siskin!

So, now I know why the bird numbers fluctuate from day to day. And so do you. Don't make the mistake of thinking that the birds you get in January stay until May. They don't. They move. They go with the flock. From one back yard bird feeder with "gourmet bird food" to the next.

Get those hummingbird feeders up. Spring migration is about to begin. Be on the look out for all migrants - not just hummers. Yellows, blues, oranges and more can light up your yard.

catch you, you're going to jail...for a long time.

The chilling effect of drug abuse can be seen all over Mississippi, and we see them every day.

We see them in a cocaine-addicted baby and in a 12-year-old learning to drink alcohol. We see them in a 17-year-old who can't make it through the day without being high and in the addict who breaks into your house to get money for his habit. We see them in the DUI's who kill innocent people and in the alcoholic parent who abuses their child.

It is unacceptable that 80 percent of all inmates at Parchman have used drugs or alcohol within one hour of the committing of their crimes. It is equally unacceptable that 10 percent of all deaths in Mississippi are related to alcohol, and 25,000 DUI's were issued in our state last year.

Our front line troops are doing their jobs against big odds. In 1989, officers of the Mississippi Highway Patrol and agents of the State Bureau of Narcotics together arrested 1500 people, seized nearly 5,000 pounds of marijuana and more than 5,800 marijuana plants as well as 110 kilos of cocaine and more than 30,000 doses of other illegal drugs.

I want to congratulate the Mississippi Legislature for its firm commitment to address the problem of substance abuse in the current session.

I would also like to thank the Joint Legislative Committee and Attorney General Mike Moore and other members of the Substance Abuse Policy Council, all of whom worked many months to study this tragedy and developed many good, solid recommendations. From these studies, we now know what needs to be done.

We need to impose swift and certain justice on those who sell or use drugs.

We need to impose mandatory penalties to those who are convicted of using and selling drugs.

We need to help the people who are the front lines in our war against this poison that is plaguing our people. They risk their lives daily fighting this battle. We need to make sure they have our support in this struggle against substance abusers.

Finally, the fight must begin in our own backyards. We must treat this problem as if our lives and Mississippi's future depended on it, for it does.

Not only would the idea of even-numbered year statewide elections provide voters a well-earned break from constant electioneering, but it would pay big dividends for the taxpayers. There's a price tag now of $5 million for holding statewide elections.

Wicker, a Republican, had to overcome natural suspicions of Democrats, who hold a 43-9 edge in the Senate, that his consolidated election plan was some kind of a Republican plot.

On its first outing in the Senate, the measure, requiring a two-thirds vote was defeated on a 21-21 vote. But the 38-year-old freshman senator visited personally with every member of the Senate and tried to persuade them that there was no partisan agenda in the proposal.

He apparently did a rather remarkable job of convincing his fellow senators, because on a deadline day, he was able to get the measure reconsidered and adopted by a 30-13 vote.

It still faces House action, and if cleared there, would go on the November general election ballot.

When he first proposed the even-numbered year election idea in 1988, Wicker's measure would have put the statewide election idea in 1988, Wicker's measure would have put the statewide election of state and county officials in a presidential election year.

Democrats, well aware of the coalition effect that a Ronald Reagan or a George Bush at the top of the ticket could have on the election of the governor and other state officials, promptly turned thumbs down on the idea.

This time he made certain that the even-year election plan would be phased in to cycle in alternate years from presidential elections to remove the aura of coalition politics.

But even then Wicker had to combat a letter sent out from the state Democratic headquarters contending that his plan would put state and county elections in a presidential year.

One key Democratic member of the Senate, Sen. Vic Frankiewicz of Bay St. Louis, a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, rose to support Wicker's measure, giving it a stronger bi-partisan footing.

Frankiewicz said that a lot of staunch Democrats were skeptical of the even-numbered year election idea mainly because it had originated with a Republican. "It could be a Republican conspiracy," the Bay St. Louis senator declared, "but it is still a good idea."

The Democratic party, he said, "needs to be smart enough to take advantage of the change. People are tired of elections and want some relief, and this is a way to save a good bit of money on elections."

Wicker said he had intentionally put the implementation of the new election schedule far enough in the future so as to isolate it from present political personalities.

"It wouldn't affect the present governor and probably not a lot of us in the Legislature."

Besides, more Mississippians might be inclined to vote in statewide elections. Certainly there can be a lot of improvement over 1987 when Mississippi had the lowest voter turnout of any state in the Southeast for a statewide election.

BSLLT slates auditions for May, June comedy

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre has issued a casting call for 12 people for May 24, 25 and 26 and June 1 and 2 production of "Any Number Can Die."

Both male and female cast members ranging in age from their 20s to their 60s are needed.

Reading for selection will be conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Bay Little Theatre's Boardman Avenue playhouse. Additional readings will be done Monday beginning at 7 p.m.

More details are available from the play's director, Ed Scanlan, at 467-7107.

"Any Number Can Die" is a comedy take-off on the mystery plays of the late 1920s, complete with sliding panels, robed figures, wills read at midnight, the ever-popular storm, unexpected guests, cryptic poetry and a missing fortune.

Crosby Arboretum to host seminar on native plants

Experts in the use of native plants will be featured speakers at a one-day seminar sponsored by the Crosby Arboretum in Picayune Thursday, March 15, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The event will be held at Pinecote Pavilion. Pinecote is the native plant center of the Crosby Arboretum, according to Edward L. Blake Jr., director. William E. Brumback, chief propagator of the New England Wild Flower Society's Garden in the Woods, Gramingham, MA, will be the principal speaker.

Brumback is a frequent lecturer and a national authority on the propagation and culture of native plants. He will present a national perspective on the use of native plants, delineate the challenges to be faced, and identify future trends in landscaping, Blake said.

Other speakers will include Gail Barton, professor of horticulture at Meridian Community College, Meridian, and owner of Flowerplace Plant Farm, also at Meridian.

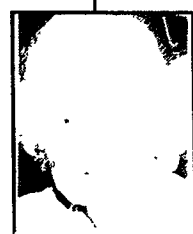

Robert Poore, landscape architect and owner of Native Habitats, Flora; and David Ellis, manager of Magnolia Nursery and Display Gardens, Chunchula, Alabama.

They will discuss available plants, how to use them in the designing of a garden, and how to propagate and use them in a garden setting.

Blake said the meeting is designed primarily for landscape architects, horticulturists, plant propagators and retailers, gardeners, and those concerned with the conservation of native plants.

Blake said the seminar will be limited to registrants on a first-come, first-served basis. Interested parties should contact the Crosby Arboretum office at Hattiesburg, 261-3137, for more information.

Preserve and cultivate our Southern traditions

Marching in to a bright new month gives us cause to stop and take stock of our resources and hopefully time to "smell the daisies," feast on the beauty of "Spring time busting out all over" with flowering trees, many types of azaleas, camellias and spirea. Such a wealth!

There are other resources not visible but definitely to be counted, cultivated, and treasured.

Conversation is our most important way of communicating with others. The voice is extremely important. The voice can be pleasant, smooth and downright charming. It can be rasping, jarring and down right irritating!

We who live in Mississippi are recognized as a soft-spoken culture referred to as "that Southern drawl." Let's keep it.

But perhaps we can improve it a bit. How? Develop your "voice personality."

Josephine Lowman once gave some very good hints. Here's what she said: "We aim for a clear pleasing tone, for accuracy of diction and pronunciation for good grammar and vocabulary."

The most common voice tone faults are (a) a too soft, flat, monotonous tone or (2) a tone which is too nasal or shrill.

Here's how you make a test and discover whether or not your voice tone is correct: Talk in your normal speaking voice while standing or sitting straight. Press your hands against your upper chest. If you feel no vibration under your hand you are probably talking through your nose and are breathing incorrectly. Vibrations in your chest show proper voice pitch.

Let's have fun with this diction exercise. Say, "The sinking steamer sunk. Have faith and trust in those you love. Be proud to be you."

Another resource which we have in abundance is called "courtesy."

Southerners have a natural talent for it. Let's keep it. Let's continue to say "Good Morning," "Have a Good Day," or maybe "Peace be with you."

Let's keep on holding the door open for the person just behind us. With no great investment we can collect dividends.

Let's review our resources. Let's keep on being "Deep South."

Who wants to go to the moon when we've got Hancock County?

We need you.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1990-1B

SECTION B

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

Don't forget that a limited number of tickets for the 1990 Metro Conference Basketball Tournament, which is being hosted by the University of Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles, will be available over the counter at the Coast Coliseum. All-tournament tickets are $80.

The tournament is scheduled for March 8, 9, and 10. Opening day games are scheduled for 1 p.m., 3 p.m., 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. The 9 p.m. game will feature USM. If the Eagles win, they'll also be in the late game Friday, which should start around 8 p.m.

This is the first year the Metro Tournament, which the different conference teams host on a rotating basis, has come to the Gulf Coast.

If you aren't a USM alumni but you're interested in the tournament, ask a friend who went to USM if you can borrow the January issue of the school's alumni magazine.

The publication concentrates on the tournament and includes lots of background on the event, featuring the coast people who helped bring it here as well as a few places to stop on the way.

One of those places, by the way, is Lil Ray's in Waveland. I'd make a recommendation, but I can't decide between the roast beef po-boy and the shrimp.

All-Division 16, Class 3A basketball teams have been named and include several area players.

Micha Necaise of Bay High and Sherman Zanders and Bobbie Ladner of Pass Christian have been named to the boys' team.

The girls' squad includes Kinta Ladner of Bay High and Nyoakee Swanier of Pass Christian.

There is little more than a week left before the March 5 deadline for Diamondhead's Pro-Am Doubles Invitational Tournament, which will be played March 11 at Tennis World.

The tournament is expected to include a field of 20 professional players and 20 amateurs. Entrants will be guaranteed four one-set matches.

For more information, contact Tennis World Pro Magnus Eklund at 255-2525, ext. 300.

By the way, there is no admission charge for spectators at the event.

Tennis World also has the Magnus Eklund School of Tennis coming up March 6, with classes for various age groups and skill levels and tennis aerobics.

Most classes will run six weeks with sessions of 90 minutes to two hours.

For more information, call Eklund at the number above.

The Sports Medicine and Fitness Center at Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center is continuing its series of free race clinics for runners who plan to participate in the 1990 Crescent City Classic.

This week's will be of particular interest to some of our local ladies because Dr. Kathleen McDonald will speak on two topics of interest to them, "The Female Runner: Catch Me If You Can" and "Women's Health Matters in Relationship to Exercise."

The clinic begins at 9 a.m. in the hospital's cafeteria meeting room. To register, call (504) 649-8651.

Congratulations to Bill Morse of Bay St. Louis, who led the 60-and-over male division in a fun run staged along with the annual Arbor Day 5K Run in Biloxi Saturday. His time was 28:13 for the race.

Area runners who did well in the 5K included Herbert Smith of Pass Christian, who was third in the 45-49 division with a time of 20:12.

There are two more runs coming up. The first is the 12th annual Gulf Coast Classic, a 10K set for 9 a.m. Saturday at the Naval Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport, and the First St. Patrick's Derby, a 5K set for 10 a.m. March 17 at Biloxi City Hall and sponsored by the Hibernia Marching Society.

For information on the Classic, call Lindo Sullivan of Gulf Coast Running Club at 832-6071 or Mager Varnado at 863-1226.

Sorry, we don't have a referral number on the St. Patrick's Derby.

The Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission is accepting resumes for summer employment until 5 p.m. March 8. Applicants must be 18 or older, enrolled in high school or college and residents of Bay St. Louis.

Last year's workers must reapply, according to Parks Director Frank Pernicaro, who can be reached at 467-5626 for more information.

The Gulf Coast Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will meet Monday from 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at Pass Christian Yacht Club. For more information, call 466-4251.

Gale Force Winds Track and Field Club is sponsoring a track and field meet for all ages, beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Gulfport High School track facility. Registration fees will vary according to the number of events each individual enters, and most of the traditional track and field events are included.

For more information, call Jim Rose at 864-3278 or Ed Wheeler at 832-1988.

By the way, the club is also holding a decathlon at the same location next week.

Rock-A-Chaw baseball begins today

Special to the Echo
By Tom Ackerman

The 1990 St. Stanislaus baseball season gets underway this evening at Rock-A-Chaw stadium with two games on tap against Northshore from Slidell.

The junior varsity contest begins at 5 p.m. followed by the varsity game under the lights at 7 p.m.

This year the Rocks will be guided by head coach Jerry Spell assisted by Rory Rafferty and Mick Quinlan.

Spell is also Athletic Director at Stanislaus and brings baseball experience from coaching at Pearl River Central and Newton High School. He replaces Mike Gemelli at the Rock helm.

According to Spell, the biggest hole to fill this year will be the absence of Scott Heitzmann, now at LSU, a power hitter and key defensive player last year. Also, winning will depend on the pitching of senior Cedric Smith and junior Greg Schruoff.

"Smith is one of the top pitchers on the Gulf Coast," Spell noted in a pre-season interview.

"And Schruoff is an excellent shortstop and pitcher. He's a team leader."

Also returning to the Rock lineup are junior Kevin Jacobi at second base, "a good hitter who can play any position";

Sophomore Mickey Quinlan at centerfield, "an outstanding fielder and hitter with good speed"; and Senior Robbie Bishop, who played back-up to All-Star catcher Heitzmann last season, "he's got to be a team leader this season," Spell said.

At the other starting positions are sophomore Adam Breerwood at right field ("an outstanding hitter");

Brian Potter at first base ("an excellent hitter and infielder; he hits with power");

John Rutherford at third base ("solid fielding and a good hitter"); and Kendall Daniels at left field ("a good fielder with an accurate arm").

Rounding out the roster of the 1990 Rocks are Bill Carriage at pitcher and first base, Pete Solberger at shortstop, Scott Peterson at first base and outfield, Robbie Bourgeois at center field, Terrell LaFontaine at pitcher, Steve Schruoff at second base and pitcher, and Trent Terrell in the outfield.

According to Spell, key district games will include Long Beach on March 30 and April 10.

"Long Beach has the best overall talent in the district," Spell said.

Hancock North Central (March 16 and 23) will also give the Rocks some competition. "They're a well-coached team," Spell indicated.

The Rocks will face St. Martin on April 3 and 13. "They have the most returning starters of any team in the district."

And d'Iberville rounds out the district schedule with games on March 20 and April 17. "They've got a lot of young, talented players," Spell said.

Other teams on the Rock-A-Chaw schedule are Gulfport (March 3 and 6), Bay High (March 27), Biloxi (April 7 and 20), and Pascagoula (April 27 and May 3).

Free boating course offered

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 35 of Pass Christian, will provide free boating safety classes beginning at 7:30 p.m. March 8 at the public library behind Pass Christian City Hall.

The course consists of 12 selected chapters on safe boating practices and procedures.

Classes will be held on three consecutive Tuesdays and Thursdays and two chapters will be covered each night. Instructions are at no cost to the participants and course material will be $10.50 (books, study guides, etc.) of which the student will maintain.

Course completion certificates will be awarded upon successful completion.

The public is invited. Class and registration will begin on Thursday, March 7, 7:30 p.m. at the Pass Christian Library.

Bulldogs end season with 8-3 record

The Gulfview Bulldogs completed the 1989-90 basketball season with a 8-3 record. St. Stanislaus was the closing game.

The Gulfview players had a total of 503 points scored, and their opponents scored 442.

Team members and their averages are Barrett Lohman 15.0; Stevie LaFontaine 5.5; Manor Ladner, 5.3; Jason Smith, 3.5; James Siewert 2.8; Corey Chaisson, .5.

Gary LaFontaine, 8.2; Tommy Smith .9; Vince Moran 5.1; An Nguyen .9; and Mike Wilson .9.

The team averaged 45.7 points a game.

Commission passes intent to adopt new red drum, cobia management regulations

The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks passed an intent to adopt proposed changes to both red drum and cobia management regulations at its meeting Monday in Jackson. The proposed changes will result in stricter regulation of both redfish and cobia fishing in state waters.

The proposed changes must undergo a 30-day comment period before they can be finalized and put into effect by the commission at the end of April.

Based upon recent analysis of the data, Bureau of Marine Resources officials believe that Mississippi's cobia regulations need to be modified to provide for a management strategy to protect this popular resource, and to ensure improved future fishing opportunities for cobia.

Stricter regulations are needed to protect the diminishing redfish stock, marine biologists say, and to curb potential overfishing of cobia, including a measure that would prohibit the sale of cobia.

Further regulation for redfish in Mississippi is necessary, experts say, because there has been increased fishing pressure on redfish since the mid-70s, both recreationally and commercially.

BMR officials, after consulting with other research agencies, drafted the proposed regulations before holding a series of public meetings to discuss what changes should be put into effect.

The three public meetings, which were held in early February, were intended to get input from fishermen and conservationists on the proposed regulations.

"The proposals we (the BMR) presented were just drafts," said Chris Snyder, BMR spokesman. "We wanted to get ideas from the user groups and incorporate them into regulations we can all live with."

Tom Vandevender, BMR's new chief of saltwater fisheries, said the BMR is proposing that recreational fishermen be restricted to three redfish per day with a minimum length of 22 inches and a maximum length of 30 inches.

Now, recreational fishermen may take 10 redfish per day between 14 inches and 30 inches long. Fishermen may take two additional fish over the 30-inch maximum and live fish under the 14-inch minimum.

Vandevender said that, under the proposed ordinance, fishermen would not be permitted to take any fish under the minimum 22-inch limit and would only be allowed to take one fish over the maximum limit.

Under the new proposal, Vandevender said, a quota on the total number of pounds of redfish to be taken from Mississippi waters each year would be set at 35,000 pounds for commercial redfishermen. He said the fishing year would begin Oct. 1 and end Sept. 30.

Vandevender said that, under the new proposal, commercial fishermen would be restricted to the same minimum and maximum limits as recreational fishermen.

"One of the most common comments we received at the hearings was to place some type of limit on the commercial harvest. We felt that placing a quota on the annual take was the best method of accomplishing this and still allow a limited inshore commercial harvest," Vandevender said.

Commercial redfishing was banned in federal gulf waters in 1986, and Mississippi is the last gulf state to permit the commercial harvest of redfish.

A redfish management plan, Vandevender said, will enable fish managers to be more flexible with regulations as the fishery changes.

"It (a management plan) allows for a more complete and planned management of the fishery to ensure a healthy fish population and optimal use of the resource at all times," he said.

In the discussion of cobia management at the public meetings, Vandevender said the BMR proposal that commercial sale of cobia not be permitted in Mississippi met with a very positive response.

The only negative comment was to a provision that would have prevented any commercial fisherman from possessing cobia on his vessel. "This provision was not acceptable to either commercial or recreational fishermen," Vandevender said. "Both groups felt that a commercial fisherman should be given the opportunity to catch and possess two cobia per day for his own consumption."

As a result of these comments this provision was removed and the plan was amended to prohibit the sale of cobia only.

Cobia primarily is a recreational fish with commercial catches representing only 10 percent of the total catch.

Both federal and Mississippi officials are proposing that fishermen be restricted to catching only two cobia per person per day with a minimum length limit of 33 inches fork length.

Now, both commercial and recreational fishermen still have to abide by the 33-inch minimum limit, but there is no bag limit.

Copies of the proposed management plans may be obtained from the BMR's office at 2620 Beach Blvd. in Biloxi.

Rhode earns certification

C. Rhode, a licensed massage therapist in Bay St. Louis, recently received his certification in neuromuscular massage therapy. The practical and written examinations were administered by The Institute for Natural Health in Baltimore on Feb. 16.

A neuromuscular therapist is a person highly trained in specialized techniques for the relief of pain and dysfunction of the soft tissue of the body. Neuromuscular therapy addresses four causes of pain—ischemia, trigger points, nerve entrapment and/or compression, and postural distortion—for bringing about homeostasis between the nervous system and the musculoskeletal system.

Following the testing, Rhode completed a 2 1/2 day advanced seminar in neuromuscular therapy. Topics covered were pelvic stabilization, intercostal clearing, and the treatment of the muscles of the anterior cervical area, the temporomandibular joint, and the abdominal area.

Higher license fees await hunters, fishermen next year

Mississippi hunters and fishermen will have to pay more next year for the privilege of enjoying their sport if a bill before the Legislature becomes law.

Vernon Bevell, executive director of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, said the license increase is needed to continue providing Mississippi sportsmen with abundant wildlife and fishery resources they have come to expect.

The agency has not increased resident license fees since 1979, Bevell said.

"In the early '80s, revenues from that increase exceeded expenditures, allowing us to develop a savings account," he said.

up the difference. Since FY 87 we have had to use over $4,000,000 of license revenue to replace general funds, which accelerated the loss of our savings.

"Now that savings account is all but gone and we don't have another source of income."

Bevell said the agency must generate revenue through the license fee increase and/or an increase in the general funds, or some personnel could be laid off.

"If that happens, then there will be fewer people to protect and manage our wildlife resources, which could lead to less wildlife for future generations to enjoy," he said.

"Less funds for enforcement, for instance, will result in the will become available from license agents rather than by mail-in.

If a sportsman is not interested in fishing and only wants to hunt, including deer, he has the option of buying a $10 basic hunting license and an $8 deer license. A sportsman who wants to hunt, including turkey, may buy the $10 basic hunting license and an $8 turkey license.

A sportsman who only wants to fish may purchase an $8 fishing license, which includes fresh water and saltwater fishing.

If someone small-game hunts, fishes and deer hunts, the $15 combination hunting and fishing license plus the $8 deer license is all that is needed.

Bevell said the agency also is proposing a new volunteer Silver conservationist license. The $60 license will become the mail-in renewable license in place of the Sportsman License. Up to $30 of the price may be tax-deductible.

He said state and federal waterfowl stamps still must be purchased separately. If approved by the Legislature, the state stamps will cost $5 next year, he said. The price of federal stamps is set by the federal government.

Despite the increases, Bevell said Mississippians still would pay less for hunting and fishing privileges than sportsmen in most surrounding states.

Alabama sportsmen pay $23.50 for all privileges; Arkansas, $35.50; Tennessee, $59.50; and Louisiana, $53.

Bevell warned, however, that the proposed license fee increase will not eliminate the agency's long-term funding shortage. He explained that revenue in the savings account had to be used to pay for some program costs that it was never intended to support, such as Mississippi Museum of Natural Science and administrative services functions of the entire agency.

Therefore, he said the agency suggests that the Legislature consider a resolution establishing a joint study committee to help the agency find funding alternatives in coming legislative sessions.

MILITARY MENTIONS

SPEC YELDER

Army Spec. Melvina B. Yelder has arrived for duty in West Germany.

Yelder is a traffic management coordinator with the 53rd Transportation Battalion.

She is the daughter of Leona W. Burton of Pass Christian.

Her husband, Rodney, is the son of Ivory Yelder and Jessie M. Yelder, both of Montgomery, Ala.

The specialist is a 1977 graduate of Pass Christian High School, and a 1981 graduate of Xavier University, New Orleans.

SEAMAN LYNN

Navy Seaman Recruit Keith E. Lynn, son of Marvin E. Lynn of Bay St. Louis, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During Lynn's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Lynn's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

He joined the Navy in September 1989.

"The agency must generate revenue through the license fee increase...or some personnel could be laid off...If that happens, there will be fewer people to protect and manage our wildlife resources, which could lead to less wildlife for future generations to enjoy"—Bevell

"This started changing in the mid-'80s, and by 1987, during the state budget crunch, about half of our limited general fund was taken away and we had to use the savings account to make hard-core violator having a field day."

If the new fees are approved, the all-inclusive Sportsman License will go up $5 to cost $30 beginning July 1. This license

Umpire clinics set

The schedule for the Amateur Softball Association's 1990 umpire clinics has been released.

The three-hour clinics, required for anyone who wants to work 1990 district, state, regional or national tournaments, will include information on 1990 rule changes, a review of current rules and mechanics.

All of them are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. but fees vary from location to location. The clinics are open to coaches, players and other interested individuals in addition to umpires.

Those closest to Hancock

County, excluding some offerings at Keesler and the Seabee Base which are restricted to military only, include Wednesday at Biloxi Boys Club; March 14, Herbert Wilson Recreation Center at Gulfport; March 15, Biloxi Cedar Grove; and March 28, Long Beach High School.

Bassin' with the pros

Noisy lures don't always work well in shallow water

How much is too much? That's the question bass anglers often ask themselves, especially after they've just spooked a shallow water fish with a topwater lure.

Sometimes bass are attracted by surface noise, other times noise frightens them.

"One of the best shallow water lures for bass is the buzz bait," explains Johnson Outboards Pro Staff angler Steve Daniel, "and a lot of fishermen think they need the loudest buzz bait they can find."

"These lures, which squeak and chatter and make all kinds of commotion, work well when the bass are deeper in seven or eight feet of water. The more noise you can make there, the better your chances of drawing the fish up to investigate."

"When the bass are shallow, however, such as in water less than three feet deep, you want a buzz bait that makes very little noise. This is especially true on calm, clear days."

"You want just enough blade turning to break up the surface of the bass doesn't really see the blade clearly," the Johnson pro continues. "If you reel the lure really slow, you'll find you get a lot more strikes."

Daniel, who not only fishes professional tournaments but also guides on Lake Okechobee, uses buzz baits ranging in size from 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 inches.

water, he often used the lighter sizes, simply because they don't create as much disturbance.

The Johnson angler also advises making long casts when fishing for shallow water bass. For this type of fishing he prefers a lumber seven foot rod that not only makes casting easier but which also makes playing fish easier.

"With a lumber rod, the bass hit the buzz bait and start swimming away before they realized they're hooked," Daniel explains. "When the fish are far away, it's much easier to play them with a lumber rod, especially if they're large bass."

Now for lures, especially those with added features to make them sound even louder, such as a propeller bass fishing, says Daniel.

"The added noise definitely helps you to fishing in stained or turbid water," he explains, "but in very clear water where the fish are deep. Sometimes, under the right conditions, you can bring bass up from as deep as 15 or even 20 feet."

"One of the best places to fish a noisy buzz bait is during the summer months around deep bridge pilings where a road may cross a lake. Just crank a buzz bait and some of those shadow bass and you'll be amazed at what comes up to hit it."

"The noise is what attracts the fish, but if they were shallow, that same noise would frighten them away."

To help keep your outdoor motor running smoothly all season, OMC recommends the use of OMC Engine Tuner. Available in a 13-ounce spray can, OMC Engine Tuner removes gum and varnish build-up and cleans excessive carbon deposits from rings, pistons and ports when sprayed through the carburetor of a running motor. It is available at most Johnson and Evinrude outboard dealers.

NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 29th day of June, 1989, Joseph Vincent Stephens, Shirley J. Stephens and Leonard P. Stephens executed a deed of trust to Sam L. Favre, Trustee, to secure an indebtedness therein mentioned to Hancock Bank, which deed of trust is recorded in Book 339 pages 311-14, Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land, Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, Hancock Bank, the legal holder of the note secured thereby, substituted Robert L. Genin, Jr., as Trustee therein, as authorized by the terms thereof, by instrument dated February 5, 1990 and recorded in Book 337, pages 141-42, of the aforesaid mortgage records; and

WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of said indebtedness, and the said Hancock Bank, the legal holder of said indebtedness, having requested the undersigned Substituted Trustee to foreclose on said deed of trust for the purpose of paying said indebtedness, and costs;

NOW THEREFORE, I will, on the 6th day of March, 1990, within legal hours, offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, the following described property situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, to-wit:

Lot 53, Square 141, Unit 2, BAYSIDE PARK SUBDIVISION, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per plat of said subdivision of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.

Together with all and singular, the rights, privileges, improvements and appurtenances to the same belonging or in any wise appertaining.

I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Substituted Trustee.

ADVERTISED, POSTED AND DATED this, the 8th day of February, A. D., 1990.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed construction proposals will be received by: OWNER: Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Hancock County Courthouse, P.O. Box 429, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520.

PROJECT: A New Multi-Purpose Office Facility for Hancock County, Longview Road, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520.

TIME: 10:00 a.m.
DATE: March 15, 1990
PLACE OF OPENING: Boardroom of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520

at which time and place all proposals will be opened and read aloud.

Plans and specifications are on file and may be examined in the office of the Owner and in the office of Michael Reeves, AIA, 1424 Main Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520 (P.O. Box 501). Copies of documents may be obtained from the Architect upon deposit of $125.00 for each set. Upon return of complete, unmodified sets within 15 days of bid opening, bidders will receive a refund as follows: Full refund on the first set and 50% refund on all others.

Proposals must be submitted on business letterhead, in triplicate, in the form shown to the "Form of Proposal". Proposals must be accompanied by a bid security in the amount of 5% of the bid in the form of a bid bond or in the form of a cash or cashier's check made payable to the Owner.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond and labor and material payment bond in the amount of 100% of the contract sum at the time of execution of the contract. Such bonds shall be by a Surety acceptable to the Owner.

All bidders must hold a Certificate of Responsibility issued by the Mississippi State Board of Contractors as and when required by state law. The number shall appear on the proposal and on the outside of the sealed envelope, unless the proposal is less than $50,000.00 in which case shall be so stated on the envelope.

Every public officer, contractor, superintendent, or agent engaged in or in charge of the construction of any state or public building or public work of any kind for the State of Mississippi or for any board, city commission, governmental agency, or municipality for the State of Mississippi shall employ only workmen and laborers who actually resided in Mississippi for two years next preceding such employment.

No proposal may be withdrawn within sixty (60) days after bid opening. The contract will be awarded to the lowest qualified bidder if sufficient funds are available. The Owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informalities.

Published by Order of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, this the 15th day of February, 1990.

IN THE CHANCERY COURT OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF E. BERNARD BOURGEOIS, JR., A/K/A BERNARD BOURGEOIS, DECEASED

SUMMONS
CAUSE NO. 21,083
TO: EMILE BERNARD BOURGEOIS, IV, A MINOR. ANSWERED BY: DIANNE WOODRUFF BOURGEOIS, NON-RESIDENTS OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, WHOSE LAST KNOWN ADDRESS WAS 121 Pine View Drive, Folsom, LA 70437; AND

THE HEIRS AT LAW OF E. BERNARD BOURGEOIS, JR., A/K/A BERNARD BOURGEOIS, DECEASED.

You have been made defendants in the lawsuit filed in this Court by Petitioners, Darryl Bourgeois, whose address is Route 3, Box 502, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, and Terri Francis Belais, whose address is Route 3, Box 836, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

The Petition filed against you has initiated a civil action alleging that Darryl Bourgeois, Terri Francis Bourgeois, Darryl Bourgeois, Gary Bourgeois, and Emile Bernard Bourgeois, Jr., are sole heirs of E. Bernard Bourgeois, Jr., A/K/A Bernard Bourgeois, deceased, and seeking legal adjudication of the heirs or said decedent.

You are required to mail or hand deliver a copy of a written Answer either admitting or denying each allegation in the Complaint to Robert L. Genin, Jr., Petitioner's Attorney, whose address is P.O. Box 70, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

YOUR ANSWER MUST BE MAILED OR DELIVERED NOT LATER THAN THIRTY DAYS AFTER THE 15TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1990, WHICH IS THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS SUMMONS. IF YOUR ANSWER IS NOT SO MAILED OR DELIVERED, A JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT MAY BE ENTERED AGAINST YOU FOR THE RELIEF DEMANDANT.

You must also file the original of your Answer with the Clerk of this Court within a reasonable time afterward.

WITNESS My signature and official seal this 13th day of February, 1990.

Home landscaping maintenance free one-day seminar offered

A one-day seminar on landscaping maintenance will be held Thursday, March 8, 9:30 a.m. at Mississippi Power Company Auditorium in Bay St. Louis.

Homeowner lawns, trees and shrubs will be covered, including identification and treatment of insects and diseases, varieties of grasses, their care, fertilization requirements and seasonal maintenance practices.

Pruning, fertilization and maintenance of trees will also be presented.

Clients having a problem with their lawns, shrubs or trees may want to bring a specimen of the affected plant.

This program is free and open to any interested individuals as the Extension Service does not discriminate on the grounds of race, sex, religion or handicap.

The class will be conducted by John Davis, area horticulture specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. To pre-register call 467-5456.

Coast Guard

Keepers of lighthouses may soon be obsolete

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles detailing the history and functions of the United States Coast Guard in its bicentennial year.

The United States Coast Guard is a multi-faceted organization which operates under the Department of Transportation during peacetime.

This relationship presents a wide spectrum of responsibilities for the Coast Guard.

One such area of responsibility is navigation. The Coast Guard's direct involvement in navigation began on July 7, 1939, when it became responsible for the maintenance and operation of lighthouses.

During the colonial period, each colony was expected to maintain the general navigation at their principal ports.

Once the Constitution had been ratified, the First Congress met to pass a series of laws relating to the new United States government. The ninth law enacted by this first congress established federal responsibility for navigation.

As far as lighthouses were concerned, there began a complicated succession. Initially, the President directly supervised lighthouses through the Secretary of the Treasury.

The position of Fifth Auditor of the Treasury was then established, and continued until the creation of the United States Lighthouse Board.

This board was transferred into the Department of Commerce 50 years later, and its name changed to the Bureau of Lighthouses.

In 1939, the bureau was moved back into the Department of the Treasury and integrated into the U.S. Coast Guard. The Coast Guard was transferred to the newly formed Department of Transportation in 1967.

Approximately 1,200 lighthouses have been used at various times in our nation's history. However, with the ravages of time, wars, and natural disasters, many lighthouses no longer exist.

For example, the hurricane of 1906 destroyed 23 lights along the Gulf Coast. At Horn Island, the keeper, his wife and daughter drowned when their lighthouse was swept away.

Today, there are roughly 445 lighthouses which are still maintained as operational aids to navigation by the Coast Guard. Sandy Hook Light, built by the Colony of New York with proceeds from a lottery, is the oldest original light tower that still stands.

In the last 200 years, there has been a gradual decrease in the dependency on lighthouses as primary aids to navigation. Early navigators relied on the different characteristics of coastal lighthouses to identify the location of their landfall after the lengthy ocean crossing.

At the close of World War II, technological advances resulted in the development of electronic aids to navigation such as RADAR and LORAN. While these developments have improved navigation, lighthouses continue to be important visual marks used to confirm position.

Soon, named lighthouses will be a thing of the past. With the implementation of the Coast Guard's Lighthouse Automation and Modernization Program (LAMP), all lighthouses should be automated by the mid-1990's.

Lighthouses are appreciated by many people, whether for the scenic grandeur of a solitary light, the historic architecture, or the engineering required to build these structures capable of withstanding the forces of nature and time.

Lighthouses are living examples of the United States Coast Guard's commitment to the safety of life at sea.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1990-1C

40th birthday festivities

Coast Episcopal Schools marks 40 years

Special to the Echo
Coast Episcopal Schools was founded in 1950, by the Reverend Charles Johnson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Bay St. Louis.

The school, originally named Christ Episcopal Day School, started with a kindergarten class of 17 meeting in the Parish Hall of the church.

In September 1950, the kindergarten and the first grade were temporarily housed in the Masonic Temple Building on Main Street. In July 1951, the church purchased a seven and one half acre estate on the Gulf of Mexico, and the carriage house was renovated to house the school.

Growing at the rate of one grade per year, a complete grammar school of eight grades was realized in 1958. The brick building now housing the elementary school was erected in 1956.

In 1967, a ninth grade was added to form a junior high school. In 1968, property on the beach in Pass Christian was purchased to house not only the new junior high but a full senior high school, with September 1969, as the target date for opening.

Hurricane Camille's devastating blow to the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast in August 1969, totally destroyed the facilities in Pass Christian, as well as severely damaging the elementary facilities in Bay St. Louis.

With the completion of repairs and the addition of relocatable classroom buildings, Coast Episcopal Schools reopened its doors to student in kindergarten and grades one through twelve at the end of September 1969.

In August 1973, a new facility in Pass Christian opened for students in the junior high and senior high grades on a thirty-five acre tract of land that was once a pecan orchard.

The Early Education Development Center was created in 1975, for children ages four and five. Classes were taught in the old carriage house which is now Johnson Hall. In 1978, a three-year-old class was added to the program and the kindergarten class was moved to the brick building.

Coast Episcopal Schools was founded to provide the young people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast with a sound academic education while instilling in them the principles of Christian belief and practice.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

We play Emmanuel

I was enjoying a bit of down time between Masses when the rectory doorbell rang. As I opened the door, a smiling mother entered with her 4-year-old daughter in tow.

The little girl gave me the once-over as I headed back toward the kitchen, and, without a moment's hesitation, asked her mother:

"God lives here?"

Another incident was no less amusing and overwhelming where a mother confided to me about her little girl: "She thinks that you're Jesus."

However, both of those incidents pales before my encounter with a dear friend after a funeral ceremony.

Not 4, but 34 years old, my friend did not have the excuse of childhood on her side. Taking both of my hands singly in hers, she looked me squarely in the eyes and said in the presence of several mutual friends: "This is our God here on earth!"

Naturally, I was totally dumbfounded. There was nowhere to turn, nowhere to hide.

The amusement of the first two incidents was missing. I could only stand there helplessly. Before I could move out of my posture of awkward speechlessness, my friend, still staring me down, continued:

"You've always been there for us in time of hardship, sickness and death. You are our God here on earth!"

Fortunately, I knew instinctively that she was not speaking in terms of idolatry. Yet, somehow, she was engaged in talk so heady and so unnerving that it startled, even frightened me.

That we all walk on feet of clay is well known to each of us, but now it began to press upon my awareness as never before.

Yes, I walk on feet of clay, as we all do! Yet, here was a statement of theology which challenged that fact by affirming that a fellow human was God here on earth for a group of people.

Not infrequently, one hears priests complain to individuals or to their congregations that the priest is not the Church, that people should not get bent out of shape when a priest is moved to another parish or assignment.

"You should come here because of the Church, not because of the priest!" they protest.

That is true, of course. And so untrue. Like it or not, people identify the Church with their minister in some form or fashion.

For better or for worse, he is in effect their God here on earth in the sense that all people seek a visible manifestation of God in their lives. Like it or not, they will find one.

Is this good theology? It is not always practical politics or human relations, but it is great theology. It is simply the tried and true theological teaching that God is present in us and that we show God's presence to one another as we share our blessings. This is nothing more nor less than a carry-over from the original Emmanuel who bridged the impassable gulf between God and humans:

"Behold, the virgin shall be with child and give birth to a son, and they shall call him Emmanuel, which means, 'God is with us' (Matthew 1: 23).

Emmanuel eventually had to leave this earth, but, before doing so, he charged each of us with continuing his Emmanuel role:

"Who ever loves me will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling with him" (John 14:23).

Mind you, this is not a role confined to church ministers. To each person, for better or worse, the spouse is Emmanuel, the child, parent, friend or neighbor is Emmanuel - or asking to Satan.

Beginning this Saturday, March 3, St. Ann's Vigil Mass will be held at 5 p.m. and continue at this time until next Fall.

St. Ann - St. John's CYO will attend the 1990 Diocesan Youth Convention on March 2, 3 and 4. Anyone wishing to attend the Eucharistic Celebration on Sunday, March 4 may do so.

Stations of the Cross will be held 7 p.m. each Friday at St. Ann's Church.

There will be an evening devotion at 7 p.m. each Wednesday at St. Ann Church.

Devotions will consist of Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, time for Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament and a sermon. This devotion will close with the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Bishop Howze will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation on Thursday, March 8 at St. Ann Church. There will be a reception in the parish hall immediately after mass.

St. Ann - St. John Altar Society members will meet in a body during the 5 p.m. vigil mass this Saturday, March 3.

Nativity BVM Parish hosts morning prayer series

The third in a series of "Mornings of Prayer" will be conducted March 6, 9:30 til noon, by Sister Kathy Scott, s.c., of Cenacle Retreat House, Metairie, at the Nativity B.V.M. Parish Life Center, Biloxi.

The morning is open to all who wish to grow spiritually through a deeper prayer life. The theme "Religious Experience" will explore how and when we experience God in our life through our human and life experiences and how we pray from our experiences.

Sister Kathy, a Sister of the Cenacle for the past ten years, has been at the Cenacle Retreat House in Metairie for three years and is well-known to many Gulf Coast retreatants. She conducts Days of Prayer, workshops and serves as a spir-

Pre-registration is requested but not mandatory. Telephone Gwen Gollotte 432-2981 or Nativity BVM Rectory 374-1717. Registration begins at 9 A.M. Coffee and donuts will be served. An offering of $5.00 is suggested.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The general meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club was called to order by the president, Nanette Murphree, Thursday, Feb. 8 at the Garden Center.

Margaret Shadoin read a poem entitled "Lenten Devotions." This was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance by the members.

Muriel Brokmeier presented an informative and interesting talk on growing bromeliads.

Audrey Baud told a story of a large orange and black bird trying to nest in her tree, but it was chased by a flock of smaller birds.

Kathleen Kemp reported on progress of the pilgrimage preparations for this year. She needs hostesses, and anyone interested is requested to contact her.

The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Ladies Auxiliary presented a menu for the luncheon they will serve on the day of the Pilgrimage. Area restaurants are invited to do the same so information may be available to visitors.

Alice Holmes reported the Gulf Coast Recycling Company will open soon on Hwy. 90 for the recycling of aluminum cans, newspapers, glass bottles and plastic soda bottles. She added that her Girl Scouts will be handling this as a project and will be happy to process these items for you. Please call her for information.

Olga Skelton, garden therapist, collected plastic Mardi Gras cups to be filled with small plants and to be delivered to shut ins at the residential home on Dunbar Avenue.

Flower arrangements were placed in the Bay St. Louis Library to Tootlum Byrd and in the Waveland Library by Sally Los Calzo.

Gardens of the Month honors for February went to Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Malone, 261 Farrar in Waveland, and Mike and Bertha Necaise, 407 deMontluzin in Bay St. Louis.

The garden club members express their appreciation to the Gulf Coast Electric Company for the three river birches planted at the Fitness Trail and for the plantings being done by G. E. Plastics at the entrance of the trail. We are working together on a great project for all to enjoy.

The Arbor Day plantings at the Fitness Trail were a great success. For several years the club has had a continuing project of planting a tree in honor of past club presidents. This year, with the help of Mark Jamieson, county forester, the club planted nine magnolias at the trail, completing the project.

Past presidents honored were Mesdames Lelyn Nybo, Herman Mazarakis, John Holmes, J. D. Brameyer, James A. Evans Jr., John R. Newkirk, Norman Coward, Thomas Tompkins and current president, Mrs. Thomas Murphree.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Terry Brotmeyer introduced hostesses Dot Hamann, Una Harris, Gerry Rutherford, Pat Lenham, Ruth Griffin, Allene Peery and Theon Gilly, who prepared and served delightful refreshments.

DAR DONATION—Joe Pilet, conservation chairman of the Friendship Oak Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, accepts a contribution from Randy Castello, manager of Mississippi Power Company, in recognition of the DAR's month-long tree planting project. Members of Pilet's committee are Shirley Davenport, Kathy Fernandez and Martha Van Peski. (Photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Beta Sigma Phi XI Theta Chapter

The monthly meeting of Beta Sigma Phi, XI Theta Chapter of Pass Christian was held on Monday, Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. Charles Weston.

Opening ritual was conducted followed by the business meeting. Mrs. Edna Szymanski was selected to be the chapter's Valentine queen.

After the closing ritual refreshments were served by the hostesses Sis Weston and Mary Davids.

The next meeting will be at a luncheon at Montana's Restaurant in Orange Grove on Tuesday, March 13 at noon.

North Bay parades in Carnival splendor

Clockwise from top, North Bay Elementary kindergarten students present a Mardi Gras parade featuring a nursery rhyme theme, including full royalty and a performance by the North Bay Marching Band; visitors and students admire some of the handiwork at the school's annual miniature float contest; and no children's band would be complete without pint-sized baton twirlers. Bay American Legion donates complimentary safety coloring books

For the third year, the American Legion is distributing free coloring books that teach children safety skills for avoiding abuse and abduction situations.

More than two million copies are being supplied to the Legion by Northern Bathroom Tissue and Northern Napkins brands of the James River Corporation for elementary school children nationwide.

The books are being distributed locally by Billy Moran, vice chairman of American Legion Americanism commission.

This is a cooperative effort by Northern, Legion volunteers, teachers and parents. Together we can really make a difference.

The 24-page coloring book presents safety tips in non-threatening, easy-to-understand language. It helps children develop an awareness of potential dangers and a practical knowledge of how to deal with them.

The coloring books use animal characters to explore situations that are often difficult for parents and teachers to discuss.

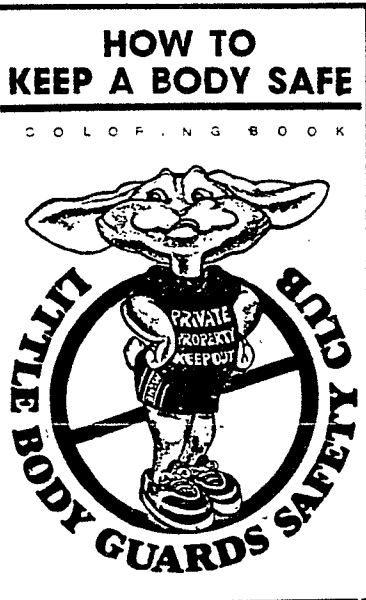

They help build children's awareness and self confidence and help them recognize that they have a right to say "no" to adults in certain situations.

Sixteen hundred books were distributed in Bay St. Louis, Waveland schools and Bay Catholic Elementary and 1,000 in Pass Christian Public Schools.

Statistics show that a growing number of elementary age children are left unsupervised for long periods of time and that more than 1,000,000 children nationwide are abused and hundreds are abducted each year.

The Little Body Guards program helps open communication between children and responsible adults and reinforces the link between schools and homes through specific exercises outlined in the book.

Little Body Guards coloring books will be available free through American Legion Post No. 139. For additional information, contact Billy Moran or your school's principal.

The Little Body Guards Safety Club coloring book has received letters of commendation from the White House and enthusiastic support from educators, guidance counselors, law enforcement officers, and health professionals nationwide.

American Legion Deputy Director of the children and Youth Division, Paul Frinthal, stated, "These safety coloring books are an important step in helping elementary school children protect themselves."

SSC students excell in state science and math tournament

Twelve students from St. Stanislaus High School attended the Mississippi Science and Math Tournament held at Mississippi College in Clinton.

Ninety-three schools and 823 students from throughout the state competed in the areas of physics, chemistry, biology, and math.

In the written competition the following students earned awards:

Do Nguyen scored in the top 6% in math and earned a $300 scholarship;

Mike Cromwell scored in the top 7% in physics and earned a $300 scholarship;

Joe Williams scored in the top 4% in biology and earned a $300 scholarship.

In addition, Williams placed third overall in the chemistry competition out of 365 students and was awarded an additional $400 scholarship.

Do Nguyen scored in the top 15% in physics; Noah Denson scored in the top 15% in math; Scott Niolet scored in the top 17% in chemistry; and George Holder scored in the top 13% in chemistry.

These students will participate in the American Free Enterprise Games in Hattiesburg and the Mississippi State University Physics Competition in Starkville.

Taylor, Welch named CES Pepsi Students

East Episcopal High School has announced the selection of Laura Taylor and Terry Welch as Pepsi Students of the Month for January.

Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Taylor of Pass Christian. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the Chess Club, sports editor of the school newspaper, and the Varsity Star Quiz Bowl Team.

Welch is also a raider cheerleader and a member of the softball team.

Welch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Welch of Long Beach. Welch, an eighth grader, is a member of the CEHS Math-Computers Team and junior varsity basketball player.

Each month the faculty selects one student from the high school and one from the junior high for this honor.

The selection is based on performance in academics, sportsmanlike conduct, self-control, and initiative.

Free pizzas stimulate BCE students' interest in reading

Bay Catholic Elementary School students have been "booking it" for months now, and the payoff comes with pepperoni and cheese.

Students in grades one through six have been participating in a national reading incentive program called "Book It!" designed to motivate children to read by providing praise and rewards.

Pizza Hut is the national sponsor of the program and has provided free Personal Pan Pizzas to those students who have met the reading goals set by their teachers each month.

"I like Book It! because I get free pizzas, and boy do I like free pizzas!" exclaimed second grader Jordan Blaize, when he and his classmates were questioned about the program's good points.

Teachers, on the other hand, seem to focus on added interest in reading. First graders were challenged to read at least five minutes more per night, in addition to their already assigned 10 minutes per night.

"Some would read for 20 or 30 minutes a night," said Ramona

Wadsworth, BCE's first grade teacher. "More than 50 percent of the class got coupons for free pizzas each month."

"The Three Bears" was a popular reading selection with first graders, who also said they were greeted with enthusiasm by Pizza Hut employees when they redeemed their coupons each month.

"A lady kissed me on the cheek," said Jene Wadsworth.

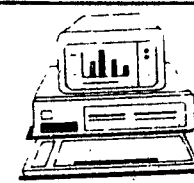

Second graders had to read at least four books per month outside of regular homework to qualify for free pizzas. Kay Gleber, who teaches second grade at Bay Catholic, said response among her students was good. The written reviews of "Book It!" produced by the second graders reflected a joy in reading and in rewards.

"I really like Book It! because I like to read and I like it because you also get a free pan pizza," wrote Julie Cicerchi.

Student Sarah Johnson summed up the feelings of her friends with her comment, "I think Book It! is neat."

BCE SECOND GRADERS from left, Andy Manieri, Beth Harris and Matthew Adam use spare time in school to earn free pizzas in Pizza Hut's "Book It!" program.

Don't deny yourself a longer, fuller life.

You can deny the symptoms of heart disease, but it won't go away. Your symptoms may pass, but the damage goes on. Often until it's too late.

Be especially alert to the symptoms of a heart attack. Chest pain and pressure are the most common. Pain may radiate down your arm, shoulders or neck. There's also shortness of breath. Cold sweat. Dizziness. Faintness and nausea.

Sometimes only a few symptoms occur.

Sometimes more. Sometimes the symptoms can even be due to another problem.

Only one thing is certain. The sooner heart problems are treated, the better your chance of recovering to live a normal, healthy life.

That's why we're here. The Heart Emergency Service at NorthShore Regional Medical Center is the first of its kind in this area. Located in our Emergency Department, we save lives by detecting heart problems rapidly and providing necessary treatment.

If you experience any symptoms of a heart attack, get immediate medical attention. Anytime, day or night, you can call our emergency 24-Hour Heartline™ at 1-800-HEART-13. An emergency care professional is available around the clock to answer questions, give advice or even dispatch an ambulance if necessary.

24-Hr. Heartline
1-800-HEART-13

The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers a complete range of cardiac care services. That's important to you during those first critical hours following a heart attack. And although you'll probably never need them, it's good to know our heart team is available 24 hours a day.

We employ powerful clot-dissolving drugs. Drugs that can save lives by stopping and, in some instances, actually reversing the effects of heart attacks. But the sooner these drugs are administered the better the chance of a complete recovery.

And advanced diagnostic capabilities, including our state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization laboratory, help us assess and treat heart problems more accurately and effectively than ever.

We also offer educational programs that help people prevent heart attacks, and rehabilitation services that help heart patients recover faster and more fully.

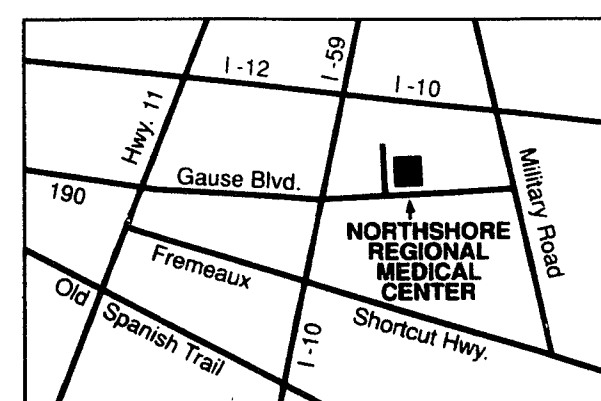

Learn more about The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center by calling (504) 641-MDMD and we'll send you a free brochure that describes our cardiac care services in greater detail.

Remember, don't deny any symptoms of a heart attack. If you have symptoms, go to the nearest hospital emergency department. If you're close to NorthShore Regional Medical Center, use the Heart Emergency Service in our Emergency Department located just east of Interstate 10 on 190 — Exit 266 — Gause Boulevard. Or call the 24-Hour Heartline™ at 1-800-HEART-13. Don't delay. Because self-denial is hazardous to your health.
